PRESS RELEASE

Date: December 7, 2023

Sami Chadli, Chief Financial Officer, to Retire

Sami Chadli, who has worked for The Texas Department of Banking since March 2013, has announced he will retire December 31, 2023. For nearly 11 years, Sami has worked for the department as the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) of the Administrative Services Division.

“We would like to congratulate Sami for decades of service to the State of Texas and his commitment and loyalty to the citizens of Texas and the Department of Banking,” Commissioner Charles G. Cooper said. “We hope he has a long and happy retirement.”

As CFO, Sami oversees all financial, procurement, and risk management areas of the Administrative Services Division. The division is responsible for the agency’s financial, purchasing and procurement, building management, risk management and business continuity functions.

Before joining the Department, Sami spent 17 years serving at various other state agencies including: the Texas Animal Health Commission, Texas Juvenile Justice Department, Texas Health and Human Services, and Texas Department of Transportation. In total, Sami has over 28 years of state service.

In 1996, Sami acquired a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance from Southwest Texas State University. Four years later, in 1999, he followed up with another degree from Southwest Texas State University, earning his M.B.A.
